Technical Specifications

The Voice option requires a speakerphone designed for VoIP calling. These devices come with a built-in microphone and speaker and have advanced echo cancellation and noise suppression technologies. They will allow for hands-free calling and require a USB interface to the computer. CMI has tested various interface models, and we recommend and sell the Phoenix Audio Duet PCS and Yealink W1DL USB IP phones.

Unlike Authority RedHawk LT, Authority RedHawk is a Web service that allows officers and departments to run LEADS queries, either in-car or on-station, giving the officer immediate feedback on the person or vehicle that they are engaged with. It also provides the communication and information-sharing capabilities available in Authority RedHawk LT.

A list of participating agencies and additional information regarding Authority RedHawk or Authority RedHawk LT may be found on CMI's Web site at: www.civiacmi.com
